ENGELBRIGHT IS FINDING MINING MOVING ALONG

That gold mining is distinctly on the upgrade at the present time is seen in the enthusiastic report brought back to Nevada City Friday night by Congressman Harry L. Englebright on his return from a trip to San Francisco.

The machinery houses in San Francisco report more orders for mining equipment at the present time than for the past five years. The class of capital coming in for the purchases is practically all cash business which indicates that a high type of investor is entering gold mining which augurs much for the future of the industry.

A recent trip to the Mother Lode country found numerous properties being opened up that had been dormant for years and practically forgotten. In Siskiyou county there were 42 new mining enterprises opened up the past month alone. Such seems to be the story all up and down the state wherever gold mining persists. Nevada and Sierra counties are feeling the surge of new capital. The new mining association is coming in at a propitious time to assist the industry just when it seemed that handicaps placed on it by the labor group in the state legislature and hoisting compensation insurance to an almost ruinous rate was going to put the industry down for the count.

Things are just right for a tremendous revival in gold mining, state Mr. Englebright and with the proper encouragement there is no reason why a revival in the industry which first put California on the map and brought it into statehood, should not be fast coming. Mr. Englebright found a lot of interest being taken in the large centers of population particularly among the business men who are keenly alive to what a large flow of mining payroll money can mean to any community.

Another particular feature which developed at the recent mining men's meeting at Nevada City came out in some of the discussion when it was found that our assiduous congressman had run across a bill passed unnoticed by the senate which would have almost spelled ruin for the prospector, if not annihilation. It related to prospecting on public lands.

The following article taken from a Colorado paper shows what our congressman averted:

Due to the vigilance of Congressman Harry L. Englebright at the last session of Congress, the gold mining industry was aved from what would have been virtually its death blow, or at least its serious curtailment.

A bill had been passed by the United States Senate which provided that hereafter mining locations made under the United States mining laws, would not confer upon the locator any surface rights of the claim, except so much of the surface of the claim as might be absolutely necessary for the extraction and working of the minerals. The bill took away from locations made in the future, the right of the miner to use the timber and water on the claim. It also provided that every mineral patent granted in the future should expressly reserve to the United States Government title to th esurface of the claim.

This vicious bill gave the miner only title to the mineral and took away from him the right of the use og the timber, water or any other resource of the surface. Congressman Englebright who is a mining engineer by profession bitterly opposed this measure when the bill was brought up before the Public Lands Committee of the House of Representatives and through his strenous opposition succeeded in defeating it.

Englebright in his argument before the Committee contended that if the timber and surface rights of mining claims were taken away from the future gold miner, it would practicall stop all prospecting and make impossible the operation and development of newly discovered gold mines. He made a strong plea for the gold prospector, whose chief asset he asserted, as a rule was his pick and shovel and who needed the timber and water on his claim to make possible its development. Every great gold mine of yesterday or today, said Englebright, was started by a prospector, who today required every aid that can be extended to him by the Federal Government. The Congressman also stated that taking away surface rights and timber of the future mining patents would prevent many Gold Mining Companies from expanding their operations.

Many of the mining organizations throughout the United States passed resolutions of oppreciation, congratulating Congressman Englebright on his fight, which resulted in saving the gold mining industry from what would have been a most serious setback.

WINZE BEING SUNK AT PIONEER PROPERTY NOW

Development operations at the Pioneer mines on the C. C. Mitchell tract are progressing nicely with the sinking of a winze about 50 feet southerly from the present shaft on the 170 level. It is planned to push this winze down 200 feet further following the ore shoot opened up.

The plans of the company are to push the present shaft to possibly a depth of 1000 feet and open a large bunch of virgin ground. Most of the operations have been to the south and plans are being made to develop the country to the north where surface croppings indicate the presence of large ore bodies. The present pumping facilities are inadequate to handle the large flow of water encountered and additional pumps are to be installed at an early date.

STATE MINERS WILL PUSH FOR MEMBERS NOW

With almost fifty members in the new chapter, the four county unit of the Mining Association of California is already to begin to function in a satisfactory manner. It is the hope of the chapter officers that the membership can be built up largely in the next few months and the membership committee will shortly be announced by Chairman James D. Stewart of Auburn.

Those signing up membership cards can pay their dues and get their receipts at the secretary's office or send them direct to Sacramento, it is hoped that those who have signed up and not paid will attend to this at once. Half the individual membership fees are reserved for the use of the local served for the use of the local chapter. The officers are all serving without salary, nor are expenses allowed for trips, thus conserving the funds of the organization and making possible the selecteing of those who are willing to work in the cause without the hope of monetary fee or reward. It is this feature alone which will do much to assure the future well being of the association and make it powerful for putting over its program in behalf of the mining industry.

Another meeting to organize fully the new chapter will be held at an early date at some central point.

LIONS WILL SELECT A NEW PRESIDENT

The Nevada City Lions Club will select a new president tomorrow to succeed Raglan Tuttle, resigned on account of ill health. The Lions Club has seen many vicissitudes the past year, chiefly lack of attendance on the part of the members and officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schwartz have as guests, Howard Richards and Walter Lewis, both former residents. They are enjoying a deer hunt having killed a fine buck in the Alleghany district.

Grover Wilson, of the Omega mine, spent the week end in Nevada City.

ANDERSON SAYS NICE THINGS FOR OUR PLACER MINES

LOOSEN THE GOLD IN THE HILLS

Editorial in Sausalio News

While California is inviting the world to come here to take advantage of the natural wealth and establish manufacturing plants that can turn these resources into tangible profits, it is overlooking a source of revenue that can produce incalcuable returns with but comparatively little effort.

We refer to the gold "that's in them thar hills" up in the Sierra-Nevada mountains. Mining engineers estimate something like $600,000,000 unmined gold in the Sierras. The only manner in which this wealth can be uncovered is to resume hydraulic mining.

Still living in the fear of the past when debris washed down from the mountains and filled up river channels, farmers of the valleys have been stubbornly fighting any attempt to reopen the mines. They will not listen to the modern methods of building big concrete retaining dams to keep the dirt and rock up in the mountains. Perhaps the picture has not been made plain enough to the residents in the low lands. It is claimed that dams, similar to those of the great hydro-electric plants, will arrest every bit of soil loosened by the miner's monitors. In addition the dams will hold back the natural erosion, which is becoming more and more each year as more of the timbered growth disappears.

Coming over the mountains a couple of weeks ago and seeing the partially worked gravel mines, then again on a trip to Dutch Flat over the last week end, we could not help but feel that a great industry is being throttled through lack of commonsense understanding.

The old dirt and brush retaining dams, erected back in the days of the first application of the Caminetti act, through which revival of this type of mining was attempted, were admittedly not a success. Now, however, concrete works can be built which would restrain the debris, as well as the surplus run-off from winter freshets and make the water useful for irrigation and geneation of electricity as well as wash millions of dollars of placer gold from the ground.

Old towns up there in the hills would become rejuvenated; new ones would spring up, and all California would feel the effect of releasing this wealth. Mining men have recently organized a state association. We hope they will tackle the proposition of re-opening the placers in a good, practical manner and convince the state at large that they are endaeavoring to create wealth without destruction.

A lot of old-timers up there in the hills are still living in hope of the day coming when they will see activity around the old diggings. Others just shake their heads and feel that the cause is hopeless.

On our recent trip to Stu Dunbar's mountain home at Dutch Flat in Placer county, we met some of the men who helped mine the gold that established the credit of the Union in the darkest hours of the Civil War. Men like George ("Buster") Sharon, Ed Duffy, who has been station agent at Dutch Flat since the first railroad train crossed the Sierras, "Jimmy" Knott, "Joe" Hughes, Pat and Ed Joyce, Frank Martel, Charles Kempster, George Woods, "Unch" Whitford, Andy Fogarty, "Grandpa" Bellows, and others in that particular sector of the gold country, sort of feel that they could do it again if only given the opportunity.

ALTA HILL PROPERTIES MAY GET TO OPERATING

The project of Cooley Butler of Los Angeles to sink a 2000 foot vertical shaft on the Alta Hill properties may yet be realized through the cessation of litigation which has held the extensive mining group at a standstill for some years past. The suit brought by P. W. Michell et al against the Grass Valley which was won by plaintiffs in the lower courts and reversed in the supreme court has now been settled in favor of the defendants as to stock transfer is in effect, which is about where the litigants started.

The owners of the Alta Hill properties some years ago entered into a pooling arrangement and agreed to accept stock in a newly organized Nevada company in return. It developed that the promoter it was alleged, had failed to do business with the state coroporation commissioner in regard to disposing of the stock without a permit and the property owners refused to accept the stock which was quoted around 40 cents a share.

Butler has held options on the property for some time but has been unable to exercise them or do any development work while the litigation was pending. As soon as the mining company makes its stock transfers for the property it is presumed that Butler will be free to go ahead.

PROMOTION BOARD ASKS FOR FUND FROM COUNTY

Disappointed in its request for a $5000 appropriation from the county funds, President W. H. Robinson and Regent J. A. Curnow appeared before the supervisors last week and asked that a monthly donation be made to assist in the work. The matter was taken under advisement. The supervisors accepted an invitation to attend the Promotion Board dinner on Saturday night.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

The Nevada City Elks are planning a bridge tourney to commence possibly next Monday night. The plan has worked nicely at Grass Valley in past winters, a number of local players participating.

MOHAWK SHAFT REACHES DEPTH OF 100 FEET

The shaft of the Yakima Mohawk property south of town has reached a depth of 100 feet the last of the week and the bottom was reported in hard rock and fine formation. The formation is granite and while hard makes it possible to eliminate a lot of timbering as was necessary during the first part of the sinking operations when so much soft ground and pot granite was encountered. Ben A. Bost is in charge of operations.

President John Sawbridge is expected here from Washington for an inspection trip of the property.

HOGE SHAFT IS DOWN 70 FEET MAKING SPEED

The new three compartment shaft at the properties of the Hoge Development Company north of town is already down 70 feet, that depth having been attained during the construction of the headframe and installation of the electric hoist

Work of pushing the shaft to a depth of 300 to 400 feet will be rushed to early completion. The shaft is being sunk at a pitch of approximately 63° following the footwall of one of the prominent ledges encountered in the preliminary operations.

The Hoge company has been one of tht prominent ones coming into the district in the past few years and it has acquired by outright purchase in that time a large acreage of promising ground along Harmony Ridge and with its development program fully under way promises to become one of the large operators of this section. Ore running well into the hundreds of dolllars value has been uncovered.

WATER FILINGS MADE FOR COUNTY WATERS

Fletcher Hamilton of San Francisco from Logan, Roscoe, Deadman Rob Roy, Mt. Zion, and Devils Vanyon, tributary to South Yuba for mining purposes. This is in the Meadow Lake District.

A permit has been issued to Addison Brown and C. J. York of Downieville for 5 cubic feet from Slug Canyon and Holloman Ravine for power purposes. Estimated cost $2500.00.

A permit has been granted Lincoln Hutchinson for a minor diversion from Zoro Spring for domestic purposes, in Sec. 24 T17N R14E.

GRASS VALLEY BOWLING TOURNAMENT STARTING

Tonight sees 16 teams swing into action on the Elks bowling alleys at Grass Valley, eight teams being in the A division and eight in the B. Si Perkins has run to hunting and fishing nomenclature for the names of the teams this time. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights have been set out for the play, two matches running each night.

BRUSH CREEK IS TO OPERATE IN A SHORT TIME

With the settlement of the water problem below the Brush Creek mine, it is expected that the mill will be operating again in a week or so after a lapse of some weeks due to protests from residents of Goodyears Bar charging pollution of water. The Kate Hardy company will by pass the water above the ditch intake and avoid further trouble which has arisen at various times during the operation of the Brush Creek.

A dam has been built in the creek below the plant and a pipe line has been laid to carry the water around the hill so that the debris problem has been satisfactorily settled and the dove of peace again reigns at Mountain House.

The ten stamp mill will again be dropping as soon as the pipe line is ready for operations, which will be cheerful news to Sierra county people as well as the Kate Hardy stock holders.

FLKS BIRTHDAY PARTY STAGED FRIDAY NIGHT

A largely attended meeting greeted the Old Timers Night and 30th birthday party given by the Nevada City Elks on Friday night. Following a fine dinner the lodge was called to order by Exalted Ruler R. R. Goyne and his corps of officers and the gavel was turned over to Past District Deputy Phil Scadden as chairman of the meeting. He called on a number of the early members and visitors and their remarks were greeted with a great deal of interest. The eulogy on Elkdom by Past Exalted Ruler F. T. Nilon was one of the finest ever listened to in the lodge and was of great educational value. The judge was in fine fettle and was presented with an umbrella during the evening.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT COMPLETE THIS WEEK

The first bowling tournament on the Elks alleys will be completed this week. A tight race is on between the Carrs and Ghidottis for topnotch honors. Should both win the same number of points with their opponents in the play this week, a post series match will be necessary to determine the winners.

The Carrs and Fortiers tangle tomorrow night and the Curnows and the Ghidottis Wednesday night. There is a lot of interest on the outcome of the tourney as the Curnows and Fortiers are tied for 3d place and there is a lot of keen rivalry between the two teams.

A new tournament will be started next week with a new lineup of teams as there are a number of bowlers anxious to get into the fray with the coming of late fall and it is expected that this winter will see some strong competition on the alleys.

OAKLAND COMMANDERY VISITS HERE SATURDAY

OPEN HOUSE

"School days, school days
Dear old golden rule days,
Taught to the tune of the hickory stick."

These are the memories that were refreshed in the minds of the parents of the students of N. C. H. S. on Thursday night, October 10th, when they gathered in the assembly hall at the beginning of the "open house" program.

Each paren was provided with a program of study of his son or daughter and followed this schedule through seven minute classes. Considering the fact that it was the first day of school the students found little difficulty in finding their respective classes in obeying the rules and regulations such as single file on stairs and no gum chewing.

At the end of the seventh hour two bells were rung, calling the students to the assembly where doughnuts and coffee were served after a few remarks by Mr. Wilson.

The purposes of this program were to acquaint the parents with the work that the students are doing and give the teachers and parents an opportunity to meet each other and to discuss any problems that might arise.

About seventy parents were present. This was a very good percentage. although the faculty would have liked to have seen more present. However, the faculty felt very much encouraged by the cooperation, which the parents gave.

All expressed themselves as having had a grand time and being glad that they came.

JUNIOR CLASS MEETING

The Junior Class held a meeting October 9 for the purpose of electing two students to represent the Junior Class in the decorating of the high school building for the parents' entertainment Thursday October 10. Carl Hieronimous and Bernice Coughlan were elected. The next business discussed was the plans for the play that the Junior Class intends to give before the assembly on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving. The president, Carl Murchie, appointed Cecelia Genasci, Lois Eden and Lionel Davies as the executive committee for this play. The pupils having been questioned as to the number of parents coming Thursday night, cards were presented to them by the class supervisor, Mrs. Hulen, who directed all to fill in their names, addresses, ages, and subjects taken. These cards will be used by the parents just as similar ones were used by the pupils at the beginning of the term. The last item transacted was the presentation of the report cards. These were met with the usual outbursts of horror and pain which the class supervisor tried in vain to quell.

ENGLISH

For the first six weeks of school in the classes taught by Miss Mabel F. Main, English II, first period, had the least absences and English III, fourth period, scored the highest in grades with an average of 2 which is equivalent to B. English IV ranked second in scholarship with an average of 3-2 which rates about C.

Myers Mobley, Howard Penrose, and Noble McCormack, Jr., were in Berkeley last week end attending the football game between U. C. and St. Marys.

Rudolph Dahlberg of French Corral consulted a doctor in this city last week for an infected arm.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES

Presentation of prizes to winners of Fire Prevention Contest was held at an assembly Thursday morning. Mr. R. J. Bennetts, president of the Chamber of Commerce, awarded the prize of five dollars to Bob Tucker, a member of the Freshman class, who won first prize and two and a half dollars to Margaret Rector, a member of the Junior class, who won second prize.

Mr. Bennetts also said a few words on the great amount of property which fires destroy. He said, "The amount of money loss due to fire is enough to finance two great projects which are being contemplated, that of relief of devastation of the Mississippe Valley by floods and that of the deepening of the canal from the Great Lakes to the Ocean". These remarks made us clearly realize that the fire problem is a grave situation.

Mr. Bennetts also thanked the faculty and students for their splendid cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce.

H S STUDENTS REUNION

School spirit still runs high for the Alma Mater is the case of four prominent alumni of N. C. H. S. On Saturday the 5th of October two members of the Senior Class of 1930, Bob Polglase and Addison Janes, were wandering hopelessly about the streets of Berkeley in searih of two of their school-mates of the Class of '29, who were supposed to be somewhere amongst the 80,000 or so people, emerging from tht California Memorial Stadium. Althoogh this seemed a hopeless task they did not despair even thoogh they were somewhat unfamiliar with the ways of the City Great was their joy and surprise when instead of two they beheld four stalwart youth of the alumni of the N. C. H. S. Carrol Coughlan, Byron Janes, Elbridge Skeahan, and Elzear Foley, marching toward them. It need not take much strength of the imagination to picture the scene that followed when one stops to consider that these four lads had not set eyes on anyone from their "Old Home Town" for two months an exceedingly long time when one is just starting out in life. When the preliminary procedure of hand-shaking and slapping on the back was over, the six proceeded toward the most economical yet worthy place to satisfy that greatest emotional sense of the human being, namely, "hunger."

After having appeased their hunger, which took quite a while between news of the "Alma Mater", the "gang" took in a talkie which of course had a vaudeville with some of "Hollywood's Beauties" in it.

This part of the amusement over with so early, next thing on the program was either to take in one of Frisco's night clubs or participate in a few "hops" to the "Hotel Oanland" but both were abandoned because of financial embarrassment. The remainder of the "evening" was psent in sight-seeing and talking over old times.

The boys separated with reluctanct, the alumni stating eloquently how much they would like to visit the old school for a day ant giving their greetings to send back to others.

Judge George L. Jones, past grand master of Masons in California, attended the grand lodge session which was held in Los Angeles last week.

Walter Evans of Forest was in this city recently.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

By Deynes Foley

A school is not complete without unified school spirit. Yet, why is it that we hear so many "I won'ts" and "I don't knows" in our social activities? Perhaps it is because we think too much of our English or Algebra. If so, we must immediately change, so as to make our school a one-ness with loyalty to everybody and everything in it.

Only about sixty per cent of the students of the Nevada City High School are really solicitous about the affairs of our school. Why can't we see that it is absolutely essential for all the students to participate in the social activities of the school if they wish to have a well rounded education? If those who have school spirit would try to enthuse into those who have none some of their own, feeling the school would be benfitted. Surely it would make school life brighter for those who think it dull, and really, wouldn't it be pleasanter?

HONOR ROLL

Post Graduate— Kathryn Greenaway.

Senior— Nadine Sutton.

Junior— Harriett Bleakley

Freshman— Warren Chapman.

The Honor Roll seems to be slowly increasing as only five, that is about 3 11-13 per cent of the entire school, made sufficient points for the last six weeks to be enrolled. However, this condition can be partly explained by the new system. According to this system A-D is passing, while last year the corresponding 4 was a failure. Therefore the value of the C and B has been also raised, causing the majority to grade here. To get an A in any subject one must be almost perfect in all its departments. One must receive at least three A's to gain the Honor Roll. Another reason for the small percentage of Honor Students is due to the fact that some of the teachers perfer to mark strictly this period so as to allow the next six weeks marking to go up, thus encouraging the pupils who would naturally rather begin low and climb high than to start high and fall down. Still another cause may be the natural difficuity of settling down to school work after the free life of vacation, but when the next Honor Roll is published next month, we feel confident that it will be twice as long. Only three pupils of the Honor Roll belong to the Honor Society which means that they have received enough points in the past to merit them this high position. However, the Honor Society is allowing that any pupil making the Honor Roll becomes a temporary member of the Society and therefore able to derive its many advantages and pleasures. This new law has been adopted to acquaint the pupils with the Society's advantages and to encourage more to aim for this beneficial goal.

PHYSICS CLASS LARGE

Mr. A. P. Philanders, a representative from the University Supply Co., visited this school recently. He was astonished when he learned the number enrolled in the physic class. He said that he believed that this was the largest class in California for a school of this size.

He also stated that many larger schools try to induce students to enroll in the physics classes. They even go so far as to have science professors come and speak upon the many merits of a physis course.

Physics is the study of the natural phenomena and physical changes of matter and energy. From this definition one can easily understand the many helpful lessons which are offered by this course. It is not only a scientific course but a very practical one. Many principals learned can be put to practical use in every day life.

SENIOR MEETING

A Senior Class meeting was held Wednesday, October 9, 1929 for the purpose of passing the quarterly report cards out to the students. Mr. Kjorlie urged the students to put forth more effort, to raise their grades and eliminate failures. The standard for the class was as follows:

A's	10
B's	37
C's	37
D's	12
E's	8

Although this standard is a fairly good showing it can be greatly improved upon.

Among the things that were discussed were plans by which the student body could be made a more active organization. Many suggestions were submitted by the Seniors. Some of these suggestions will undoubtedly be carried out during this semester.

Another problem discussed was the year schedule calendar. Many activities were suggtsted and discussed. A previously appointed committee acted upon these suggestions and planned the entire year's activities at a meeting held after the adjournment of the class meeting.

GIRLS' ASSOCIATION MEET

The Girls' Association held a meeting Wednesday, October 10, 1929, for the purpose of discussing plans for attending the Women's Civics Improvement Club meeting, which will be held on October 14, 1929. It was decided that the officers and following girls who were appointed should attend.

Vivian Cerro, chairman of the rooms committee announced that each girl would be taxed five cents. This money will be used to buy more mirrors for the girls' rest room.

HONOR SOCIETY LUNCH

A luncheon was given by the Honor Society of the Nevada City High School last Wednesday, October 9, 1929. The proceeds of the affair are to be used for the annual tuition fee of the Society awarded annually to a senior of it's number who wants to enter college. The luncheon was a big success and the Honor Society wishes to thank everyone who patronized it and especially those who contributed anything. The menu consisted of weinies, rolls, salad, pickles, and cake. Everyone reported a good time and the members of the Society were rewarded by that for their hard but willing work.

FRESHMAN CLASS MEET

The Freshman have selected Ruth Rector and Warren Chapman to represent their class in the Student Body at a meeting held Wednesday. They also chose blue and gold as their class colors. Three flowers: the sweet pea, yellow ose, and buttercup will be voted upon at the next meeting for class flower. A committee to submit a class motto was made up of the following: Ruth Rector, Beth Curnow, Katherine Celio, Alberta Robinson, Henry Toccolini, and Bob Tucker.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Coach Pedersen and Manager Joe Cortoscelli sent letters for games to fifteen clubs and schools. There will soon be a dance by the high school for equipment for the hall. Mr. Pedersen announced that basket-ball practice will begin next week.

FIRE PREVENTION

Mr. Asher Ireland, a United States Forest Service man, who is traveling through the country, lecturing on the evils of fire and the immediate necessity of prevention, presented a short program to the Student Body on Monday, October 7, 1929. Accompanying his lecture he showed two reel films of animal life in the forest and the devastating effect which fire has on the forest, animal life and last but not least the future generations. Mr. Ireland's lecture was very interesting and was greatly appeciated by the faculty and students.

William Maguire was a recent visitor in San Francisco.

SOPHOMORE MEETING

The meeting was called to order by the president for the purpose of distributing report cards and to make out program cards for the parents who attended "school" Thursday night. The two executive members elected from the Sophomore Class were Betty Bettles and Bill Tamblyn. As there was no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

C. W. Kitts, of San Francisco, and a former member of Nevada county bar, was a professional visitor during last week.

Frank W. Craig, former Nevada City resident, visited here a short time during last week.

HISTORY CLASS ELECTION

The U. S. History Class, under direction of Miss Main held an election to elect another set of officers for the second six weeks of school. Bob Polglase was elected president while Elizabeth Thomas was elected Secretary.

A successful hunting party composed of F. J. Brophy, of Berkeley, and Drs. Houseman and Brand of San Francisco and Frank Davies returned from Forest Hill divide. They proceeded to Alleghany where they intend spending a few days hunting.

John Fortier of the Bank of America force in Nevada City, spent his vacation around the bay.

CAMPTONVILLE PERSONALS

Two shots, two deer, is the way in which Lew Rose, of this place, got the limit Tueday morning when he bagged two fine looking bucks a hort distance from town. John Jaynes, who was on his way to town ,saw the deer, and not wanting to trust himself to getting them, called Rose to his assistance, and the two of them went back, locating the animals only a short distance from where they were originally seen, and with a couple of shots, they were theirs. This section is full of deer, the animals coming right into town; a group of five have been seen several times from the garage, and it is said that one is brave enough to feed on the hops in front of the Hotel Francis.

It tands as an example of the type of road house as existed along the roads and by ways of the early days. It was the scene of many historic events. Popular as a stopping place and stage station, particularly in winter when the snow piled deep. CARRS HOLD LEAD IN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

By taking four points from the Curnows Wednesday night the Carrs held theid top place in the Elks bowling tournament. The Ghidottis have lodged a protest against one point scored in a tie game the previous week which would make the top place now a tie. Under the scoring method followed the past year, in the event of a tie game being rolled, the team making the next game or the total pins would be given the point, which was done in the present case.

The Ghodottis took but three points from the Fortiers on Tuesday night the last game going to the Fortiers by a 32 pin margin. As the result of the play the Curnows are now tied for the cellar honors with 7 points each. The Curnows have the most pins but the Fortiers have won the most games, so you can take your choice.

The outstanding work of the past week was Percy Carr who lacked but two pins of a 500 total for his evening's effort while he took the high single game with a nice 204. He boosted his average to within one pin of the the coveted 150 mark. Southpaw Hoge trotted in with three more doubles which puts him in front rank in that department with ten of the double strikers. He is quite a ways short on making his spares which is holding his average down.

Mobley slipped another two pegs in his average, he getting but one fair game for the week. He continues in second place however with no one in striking distance. Nickless slipped five points in average while Fortier climbed eight points by some good work. Keller and Schiffner down at the bottom of the list exchanged places the past week, due to some good work by Otto who hoisted his average three points.

This week sees the finale of the first tournament and the honor of having the team membrs' names engraved on the loving cup which is expected to be used for the team honors. Another tournament is due to be started next week with a new lineup of teams entirely and a number of bowlers coming in who were not tble to tie in on the first one.

COZY CORNER CHAT

THE PRESENT AGITATION in favor of seeing Nevada county restored to good graces in school athletics in the scholastic federation has a wide interest. We have been out of standing due to the rowdy tactics at athletic sports, largely by those who are not members of the schools. It has reacted strongly on our communities as not being good sports. The board of managers of the northern section of the Federation has endeavored to make plain its position, which was briefly stated to be that of endeavoring to see that there should be proper conduct, not only on the part of players and of the contesting school pupils, but upon the part of the sight seeing public. It was brought out at the meeting that for many years the conduct on the part of the crowds both at Nevada City and Grass Valley had not been such as to promote good feeling and good sportsmanship between schools and communities. The drastic action taken last year was done to secure proper conduct on the part of the friends and crowds who attend these games. The evidence as brought out at the meeting, seemed to indicate that the main problem was not overt acts upon the part of pupils attending the high schools, but rather one of controlling the crowd.

Principal Wilson made the statement that while he was not familiar with the handling of the past events, he had talked with many leadingcitizens of Nevada City relative to maintaining order at the high school games, and he had their assurance that every civic organization, and club would go their limit to see that order and good sportsmanship prevailed not only at, but after the future games. He then asked that since the board would not shorten the time from three years to one year as the limit for public exclusion; that the board should put us on probation at least, and allow us a chance this one year to show that the situation could be and would be properly controlled.

Mr. Pedersen, our othletic coach, gave his assurance, also, based upon the past few years experience, that the Nevada City situation could be successfully handled.

The final decision of the board was that they would give us this chance providing that all the clubs and civic organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce, would appoint representatives who should meet and plan for a proper control of all contest events. It was suggested that no game should be called without having some peace officer present to assist the high school principals in preventing rowdyism and other misconduct on the part of overenthusiasm or for other reasons.

Mrs. George Hitchens and Miss Mary Meservey are attending the meeting of the grand chapter of the Order of Eastern Star at Coronado.

ROUGH AND READY JOTS

ROUGH and READY, Oct. 12, Although there has been every indication of rain, so far they have proved to be false alarms, although we had quite a thunder storm this week, we are all waiting patiently hoping it will rain soon.

Supervisor Frank expects to finish the work he has been doing on road and will transfer his crew of men to the Dikeman place.

Word has just bees received here of the death of Mrs. Letha Single, wife of Marion Single, a former resident. Although Mrs. Single was a resident here, she visited with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Chas. Single numerous times and was known here. Being of a sunny disposition she was loved by all who knew her She has been as inmate of the Weimar Sanitarium for the past 18 mosths, but the last news received here she was very much improved asd expected to return to her home in Sacramento shortly. Mrs. Single died September 28th is Sacramento. She was raised in Yuba county and was the only daughter of Mr. Erwin, former sheepman of Wheatland.

A card party is to be given at the Rough and Ready school house on the evening of October 25. The proceeds will go toward buying a piano of which we are greatly in need. Prizes will be awarded for the highest and lowest scores and refreshments will be served. Everybody welcome. The followisg committee has been named, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, Mrs. Manuel Frank, Mrs. A. FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, Oct. 12 (Spcial to The Nugget)—Well we are still crying "More water!" in this section. The showers of Sunday nigh did much to refresh things but it was not enough to lay the dust. It will take hours of a steady downpour to moisten the parched earth. We were pleased that the rain held off until after our "Buck Stew" but those who tarried that evening to put things in order were treated to a brisk little shower. Thunder and lightning accompanied the rain later that night.

Well, about that "Buck Stew?" Oh my! We can't tell it to do it justice. A day of sweet pleasure! A happy gathering! A splendid eat! We must have more of those enjoyable events next year. We were rather disappointed that our Nevada County Press was not represented. While we would be glad to have them share our pleasures we look to them a good deal for sympathy and encouragement in our distress.

ORIENTAL BRANCH OF BANK OF AMERICA IS OPENED IN BAY CITY

East met West on even terms Thursday when the new Oriental Branch of the Bank of America of California opened its doors at 939 Grant avenue.

In a ceremony as colorful as it was impressive, the famous dragon of Chinatown coiled its sinuous length down Grant avenue stopped before the new bank structure, and advanced toward the closed teakwood doors. Then, in a dance that was old when the Manchu Empire was young, the dragon symbolized long life, prosperity, and happiness for the new offices of the Bank of America. Finally, amid the din of firecrackers, the doors of the bank swung open.

Today was doubly significant in Chinatwn, as it marked both the opening of the new bank structure and the Independence day celebration of the Chinese republic. With most of the stores closed, and with Chinatown, as it marked both the tumes and customs of the Orient, Grant avenue might well have been a street in Peking or Canton. Crowded with floats of Chinese design and symbolism, an immense parade typified all that is best and unique in Oriental life and character.
